Rotary Vocational Service Month

Every 14 hours of every day a new Rotary club is chartered in one of the more than 150 countries in which Rotary exists. This steady growth in new clubs is extremely important in extending the worldwide programs and influence of Rotary International. New Rotary clubs may be established anywhere in the world where the fundamental principles of Rotary may be freely observed and wherever it can reasonably be expected that a successful club can be maintained.

In the annual Rotary calendar, several months are designated to emphasize major programs of Rotary International. October is Vocational Service Month. During this period, clubs highlight the importance of the business and professional life of each Rotarian. Special speakers promote the vocational avenue of service.

Of great importance to Rotarians and their vocations is the Four Way Test. This "test" provides guidelines for the ethical conduct of Rotarians in what they think, say and do:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Rotarians are successful professional and business executives who follow these guidelines in their daily lives. Once a week, the opportunity for Rotary fellowship occurs at each club meeting. Warm and personal friendship is the cornerstone of every great Rotary club.

The first quarter of our Rotary Year 2010-11 is now behind us. We are off to a fantastic start with the physical work of our major events, Duck Race and WurstFest in the past. We are still wrapping up those events with information on what worked well and ideas for improvements and some policies and procedures.

Next, we will focus on preparations for smaller club projects and programs we can invest our time and funds in. The biggie left is Grad Night and refreshing that project.

I feel we have each grown this year and enjoyed fellowship and getting to know spouses better and find our place in what we do best.

I, as secretary am still sorting and filing and trying to find my place as secretary for this year. Since October is Vocational month I ran onto this bit of information I would like to share.

DECLARATION OF ROTARIANS IN BUSINESSES AND PROFESSIONS

As a Rotarian engaged in a business or profession,

I am expected to:

Consider my vocation to be another opportunity to serve;

Be faithful to the letter and to the spirit of the ethical codes of my vocation, to the laws of my country, and to the moral standards of my community;

Do all in my power to dignify my vocation and to promote the highest ethical standards in my chosen vocation;

Be fair to my employer, employees, associates, competitors, customers, the public, and all those with whom I have a business or professional relationship;

Recognize the honor and respect due to all occupations which are useful to society;

Offer my vocational talents: to provide opportunities for young people, to work for the relief of the special needs of others, and to improve the quality of life in my community;

Adhere to honesty in my advertising and in all representations to the public concerning my business or profession;

Neither seek from nor grant to a fellow Rotarian a privilege or advantage not normally accorded others in a business or professional relationship
